

Chapter 4

Dream Vision of Jaga Bhakta

During this period, Jhina Bhagat availed of the opportunity to listen to the “Gunatit” talks of Pujaji Bapu, Merubha Bapu, and other great satsangis. Because Krishnaji Ada and Pujaji Bapu had spoken extensively about Jaga Swami’s glory, Jhina Bhagat was left pondering, “How great must Jaga Bhakta Swami have been!”

Jhina Bhagat used to sleep next to the mandir trellis. That same night, Jaga Bhakta Swami appeared in Jhina Bhagat’s dream. Jaga Bhakta Swami was wearing a white dhotiyu and a white turban on his head. Jhina Bhagat got up and did two dandvats, before Jaga Swami said, “Please, that’s enough.”

Then Jhina Bhagat said, “Swami, you fulfilled my wish and gave me darshan. Please impart some wisdom.”

Jaga Swami explained the fundamental principle upon which spiritual success depends: “You should keep these two things: an addiction to holy scriptures and the company of a good sadhu.” This divine aphorism from a great sadguru penetrated deep into Jhina Bhagat’s heart. In his mind, he repeatedly bowed to Jaga Swami.

After enjoying the golden rays of the dawn of Satsang in Rajkot, Jhina Bhagat traveled with Krishnacharandas Swami’s mandal towards Junagadh.
