Decision to Go to Africa

The first Akshar Purushottam mandir outside of India was constructed in Mombasa in 1955 at a cost of 500,000 shillings. Swamishri provided the auspicious date for the murti-pratishtha and decided to travel to Africa for the first time.

Swamishri arrived in Mumbai on 6 April 1955 (Chaitra sud 14, V. S. 2011) and stayed in Kapolvadi. Swamishri had planned to accompany Harmanbhai from Mumbai on a steamer to Africa that was leaving from Karanja Port on 8 April 1955. Thus, he had celebrated the Chaitra Punam festival in Bochasan on Chaitra sud 12. But when the airlines agreed to fully accommodate the sadhus' niyams, Swamishri's passage by steamer was canceled and his flight was booked from Mumbai to Africa leaving on Wednesday, 13 April 1955.
